

This regulation requiring fax consent sure does put a huge handicap on the average working person. I understand the intent, but it should only apply to spam ads. The author of this regulation must have been smoking crack.